Pre-Apprentice Carpentry Training Program is a 13 week basic carpentry career training program for participants who are seeking entry to a career in the residential construction industry. The program is not limited just to those seeking to be introduced to residential construction, with our hands on approach, but is also for those looking to up-skill at their current position or even are hoping to make career change to residential construction.

The Pre-Apprentice Training Program will either prepare students for entry-level careers in this remarkable, fast growing field or up-skill those already in the field. Students will learn the tools and materials of the trade and how to safely use them. Students will also learn real world, on the site techniques and best standards from an expert, who is still in the field while working hands-on in a real-world setting. Students will graduate the program with the following: HBI Pre-Apprentice Carpentry Certification, OSHA 10 Certification, First Aid, AED, and CPR certification.
